

[Friday 13:50] Jimmy Leslie

I'd recommend Kurt Vonnegut's Player Piano. Although written in 1952 it gets to the heart of dystopia due to automation and like other Vonnegut novels does so through satire.

like 5 heart 1

[Friday 13:54] Jimmy Leslie

To Toby's point, the overarching theme of Player Piano is human dignity and how we manage automation.

like 2

[Friday 14:02] Samuel Webster

That profiling exists today for phone users when booking hotels and flights when they detect you have a fancy smartphone!

like 3 surprised 2

[Friday 14:02] Tara Badr

noted i will not upgrade my phone!

Samuel Webster

That profiling exists today for phone users when booking hotels and flights when they detect you have a fancy smartphone!

laugh 3 1f4af_hundredpointssymbol 1 like 1

[Friday 14:03] Eric Drylewicz

Samuel Webster

That profiling exists today for phone users when booking hotels and flights when they detect you have a fancy smartphone!

Always book them using either a computer or phone with an incognito browser. Gives you vastly different prices. It's crazy.

like 4 surprised 2 1f4af_hundredpointssymbol 1

[Friday 14:03] Gareth Meredith

Eric Drylewicz

Always book them using either a computer or phone with an incognito browser. Gives you vastly different prices. It's crazy.

such a great tip

heart 1

[Friday 14:09] Samuel Webster

soon you're going to have to wear scruffy clothes so the AI can't determine you look rich 😄

laugh 5

[Friday 14:09] Jimmy Leslie

Samuel Webster

soon you're going to have to wear scruffy clothes so the AI can't determine you look rich 😄

That's how I mostly look anyway Sam!

laugh 2 like 1 laughcat 1

[Friday 14:11] Eric Drylewicz

Jimmy Leslie

That's how I mostly look anyway Sam!

oh, come now, Jimmy! Those fresh vans and matching shirts say otherwise. 😄

laugh 2

[Friday 14:13] ISABELLE HERISSON

it drives on the right though

laugh 2

[Friday 14:15] Eric Drylewicz

I can see it

laugh 2 heart 1

[Friday 14:15] Andy Glinos

that's you Toby heart 1 1f4af_hundredpointssymbol 1

[Friday 14:15] Duane Romanell

Spot on, Toby.

laugh 1

[Friday 14:17] Samuel Webster

quietly, yes

[Friday 14:17] Eric Drylewicz

we can, it's low however

[Friday 14:18] Jimmy Leslie

I suppose for me when we discuss AI and art, I get hung up on the idea of art being solely the end result. I am more interested in process and I want to know what went into that process. With music for instance, I love to know what the song writers inspiration was; i.e. a breakup, new love, death or any other number of things that are the impetus for art making.

heart 4 handsinair 1 2795_heavyplussign 1
[Friday 14:19] Jimmy Leslie

These are the things that make us uniquely human and the things we can relate to with our fellow humans

heart 5
[Friday 14:27] Jimmy Leslie

I really enjoyed this Toby, well done! I think the key with AI and any technology is that we shouldn't react by freaking out about the unknown (this is where we run into issues in other areas of life) but rather take a moment and process how we use the technology in ethical ways.

like 2 heart 2
[Friday 14:28] Adrian Moorcroft

Totally Brilliant! Loved it thank you Toby

heart 1
[Friday 14:28] Michel Ritz

Amazing presentation. Thank you, Toby!

[Friday 14:28] Eric Drylewicz

Great job, thanks Toby!

[Friday 14:28] Stephanie Casertano

<https://chat.colart.com>

Make sure you are on VPN

like 2 heart 1
[Friday 14:29] STEPHANIE JACONO-HERNANDEZ

brilliant, thanks Toby

[Friday 14:29] Allison Corrigan

Fantastic presentation Toby!

[Friday 14:29] Stephanie Casertano

Stephanie Casertano

<https://chat.colart.com>

need to be on VPN just FYI

[Friday 14:29] Kim Stylides

Great Toby! Look forward to join training session(s).

[Friday 14:29] Katelyn Wagner

Fascinating - well done! Thanks Toby

[Friday 14:30] Christina Yoder

Extremely informative - thank you Toby!

[Friday 14:30] Luiza Sandru

That was really interesting, thank you Toby!

[Friday 14:30] David Pallino

That was Great stuff and eye opening. look the pictures

[Friday 14:30] David Pallino

love

[Friday 14:30] Duane Romanell

Great presentation, Toby. Have already used the AI-generative function in Adobe apps, and it's scary how seamlessly it can enhance/transform photography, especially.

like 2

[Friday 14:31] Jimmy Leslie

Yes, I agree with what Gareth is saying about a discussion. I find it intriguing and started to ask ChatGTP questions just to get familiar with how it works. It would be interesting as a group to find out what our collective concerns and/or hopes are.

like 3 heart 1

[Friday 14:31] Ellie Deakin

Arteza' took a stance on it publicly too; <https://arteza.com/pages/create-human-art>

like 3

Create Human Art

Welcome to Arteza® - Browse our wide selection of arts and crafts supplies - paint, drawing tools, canvas, brushes, markers, crafting and more.

[Friday 14:31] Anne Elisabeth Loks

Such a great presentation ! Thank you Toby

[Friday 14:31] Samuel Webster

It'd be interesting to see how it critiques art